AT DEATH'S OPEN DOOR.

It was a grisly sort of feast that was held the other night in the death house of the Ohio penitentiary.

The host was John Sabo, celebrating his 21st birthday by spending his last $30 for a dinner to the five other occupants of the condemned cells. The host recently was denied a retrial, and will know very soon when he is to be electrocuted. It is the only uncertainty that this world now holds for him—the date.

One of the guests was scheduled to die just five days later. Another was to follow him to the electric chair two days after that. The other three were negroes, all of whom knew that they had no hope of escaping the same fate a little later on.

Sabo made his $30 go as far as possible. There was chicken, sweet potatoes, biscuits, salad, pie a la mode, a huge birthday cake, coffee and cigars. It was a genuine banquet.

But imagine the circumstances! The meal was served in the open corridor into which the condemned cells open. At the end of the room was a door leading into the execution chamber—a door each of the six banqueters would pass through within a few weeks. Picture, if you can, the cheerfulness and ease that must have surrounded that festal board.

It was gruesome, of course. But, after all, the situation of those six condemned men, enjoying a feast in the short time that remained to them, was not greatly different from our town. Like them, we are all condemned to die; only they know exactly when they are to go, and we do not.

Knowing, and counting the hours, they grow desperate. Death that is certain and imminent becomes terrifying. We do not know the date of our own death and it fails to alarm us. We do not think about the matter; and we go along from day to day, really disbelieving that we shall ever die.

And, really, we do pretty well. The race has a number of very fine achievements to its credit; bits of poetry and music, deeds of self-sacrifice and heroism, patent struggles for truth, uncomplaining acceptances of heavy loads. In our vague denial that we shall ever die we now and then accomplish things that, in sober truth, will live forever.

It is not true that the presence of death brings wisdom. It destroys it. A man who knows he is soon to die can think of nothing else. But most of us, to whom that knowledge is not present, can see more clearly. By assuming that death is remote we stumble on a great truth—that it is unimportant. It cannot stop our slow progress upward from the dark abyss that lies back of recorded history. We triumph over it—triumph over it by forgetting it.

It is only under abnormal circumstances — in a penitentiary death house, for instance—that death appears real and terrifying. Most of the time we know that it is only a shadow, a half-way point between two eternities.

A THOUGHT FOR THE KITCHEN.

In the Washington zoo there is an Araucanian hen—a fowl from remote Chile, which has the quaint habit of laying green eggs. This fact stirs one to a pleasant trend of thought.

Why not use these eggs to make gaily colored pastries and cakes? Let's see; baking powder contains cream of tartar, made from nice purple grapes. Sugar, before refining, is a rich, golden brown. Can't we retain these colors, introduce the green eggs, and get, thereby, a cake in which greens and purples and browns are pleasingly inter-mingled?

It is a breath-taking thought. Let domestic science see what can be done.

Penn State freshmen have organized a harmonica band, 1200 strong, to play during football games. Football teams have survived cheer leaders, however, and there's just a chance that they'll be able to overcome this, too.

We never have been able to understand why some of the smarter football coaches haven't tried the experiment of getting their players into condition by sending them charging against revolving doors.

A man has made a fiddle out of 5029 matches. This reverses the process of many boxers who can make a series of dances out of one match.

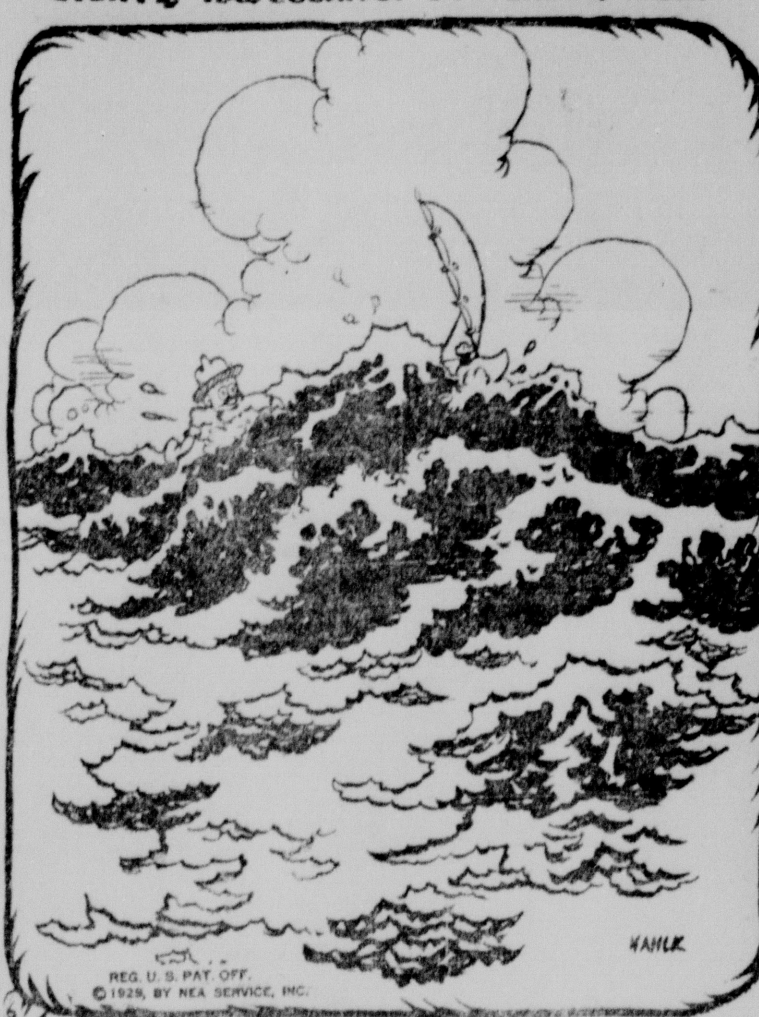

Recent stock market reverses lead to the suggestion that perhaps it ought to be renamed Walling Wall Street.

Judging by the recent naval investigations, there seems to have been quite a lot of Shearer nonsense in that department.

The smallest fish in the world is said to be the Philippine goby, three-sixteenths of an inch long. Strange to say, no vacationist has reported catching any of 'em.

THE TINYMITES

STORY & HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

A handkerchief was soon brought, out and Scouty said, "There is no doubt but what with this we soon can make a dandy little sail. Come on, that is the thing to do. We'll make it fit right in the shoe. The shoe will not leak water so you will not have to bail."

"When everything is set to go, just ride the big waves high and low. I'm sure you will be safe and sound, 'cause I'll be right near by. Of course if you get on a swell of water you can loudly yell. I'll come right to your rescue any time I hear you yell."

The Weeone who was first to ride put up the sail and hopped inside. The others shoved the shoe out and the bunch began to roar. "Hang on real tight. Oh, mercy me, don't slip out and fall in the sea. To play real safe we think you'd better stay right near the shore."

And so the Weeone sailed away. He turned and shouted back, "Hurray!"

This shoe sails like a little boat. I hope the wind grows strong. 'Cause then 'twill bring me heaps of speed and that's the very thing I need. I'll surely yell for help, real loud, if anything goes wrong."

Wee Scouty then jumped in the stream in keeping with his little scheme to see that everything went well. He swam close by the shore. At first it gave him quite a thrill because the water was so still. Just swimming very calmly was a pleasant thing to do.

But then the wind began to blow and soon the Weeone shouted, "Oh, I wish that I was back on shore. I'm scared I'll take a flop." "Stay where you are," brave Scouty cried. "You'll have to keep on with your ride. With such a strong wind blowing 'tis not well to try to stop."

(The wooden shoe turns over in the next story.)

YALE RECEIVES CHARTER

On October 9, 1701, Yale university, then known as the Collegiate School of Connecticut, received its charter from the Colonial Assembly and was formally opened at Saybrook.

For 60 years before the opening of the new school, the people of Connecticut had been sending their sons to Harvard. In 1701, 10 of the principal ministers of the colony, all but one of whom were graduates of Harvard, formally founded a college.

late institution by the gift of books for a library and were granted a charter, making the ministers and their successors trustees of the school.

The trustees elected one of their own number, Abraham Pierson, of Killingsworth, rector of the school and, in order to obtain the support of the towns on the Connecticut river, voted to establish it at Saybrook, "as the most convenient town for the present."

In 1716, in the face of much dissatisfaction, the school was removed to New Haven and permanently located there. A wooden building was erected where Osborn hall now stands, and was formally opened at commencement in 1718, when the name of Yale college was adopted in honor of Elihu Yale, who had made large gifts to the school.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without significance.

—I Cor. 14:10.

For one word a man is often deemed to be wise, and for one word he is often deemed to be foolish. We ought to be careful indeed what we say.—Confucius.

SEA SCOUT COMMITTEE

The work of the Sea Scout Committee during the year has been one of trying to find the right method of approach, the encouraging of the older boys.

Mr. J. J. Burns was put on the pay roll as part time Sea Scout Commissioner and given title of port master. He was able to interest about 20 older boys in the Ship Sea Scout Lioness which is registered today. Also a Patrol of Sea Scouts was started at Highland School Troop 29 under Oscar Anderson. The various institutions were interviewed such as Emmanuel, Lutheran Troop 26 and the St. Peter's Catholic Troop 19 and they are working toward a Sea Scout Patrol. Both institutions are interested but as yet have not registered either of these patrols. Troop number 90 of Sterling and Troop 60 of

Thrilling Slide Opens 1929 World Series

This picture shows the opening play of the 1929 World Series. Bishop of the Athletics rapped a hard grounder to Grinn, Chicago first baseman, who beat him to the bag with a nice slide. Pitcher Root is just back of Grinn, with Umpire Dineen at the right.

Dixon are both interested in starting Sea Scout Patrols. This interest was brought about through the use of the Sea Scout Cutter at Camp Amos Horton this year.

The placing of these Scouts should greatly be helped the coming year for the reason that the Regional Office have employed a Regional Sea Scout Director who at the Regional Conference put the Blackhawk Area on his itinerary for a weeks visit.

The Lions Club of Rockford and Navy Club of Rockford are still interested in this program. I would recommend that we try another year at the development of this program. If proven unsuccessful I recommend that it be dropped from our activities.

COURT OF HONOR REPORT

Harry Simpson, Chairman

A Court of Honor is held monthly and Scouts appear to be awarded Merit Badges, Star, Life and Eagle Badges.

During the last year Second and First Class badges were awarded at the Troop by the Troop Committee.

The following Court of Honors have been held and advancements made: Polo, Ill. Several Court of Honors were held at Mt. Morris, Morrison, Sterling, Dixon and Amboy, Prophetstown, Erie, Tampico, Rock Falls, Stillman Valley, Amboy, Forreston and East Jordan. Four Court of Honors were held at Camp Amos Horton and one at Camp Rotary.

A monthly Court of Honor was held at Rockford, Ill. During the summer months they were held at camp.

A total number of 500 Scouts were before the Court of Honors to receive Merit Badges.

This year only Second Class badges will be awarded at the Troops and First Class badges will be awarded at the Court of Honors.

A Board of review is to be held the third Friday of each month and Scouts coming up for the First Class will be reviewed at this time. The Court of Honor will be held the fourth Friday of each month and badges will be awarded to First Class, Merit Badge, Star, Life and Eagle Scouts.

We are attempting to obtain the Memorial Hall to have a permanent place to hold the Board of Review and Court of Honor.

A total number of 84 different Merit Badges can be passed by First Class Scouts.

A Second Class Scout may pass five merit badges of a certain 35 before becoming a First Class Scout.

Through these Court of Honors we have 25 Tenderfeet Scouts, 337 Second Class and 274 First Class.

ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

J. Lou DuPlain, Chairman

The activities for the year 1928 and 1929 were as follows:

Several Halloween parties were held by troops during October. Twenty local Boy Scouts who have been studying fire prevention for a year were given a trip to Chicago.

Annual banquet was held at Shrine Temple. 200 present. Walter

M. Kiplinger, Regional Scout Executive was principal speaker. Bert Hassel, Parker D. Cramer, Mayor Burt M. Allen, and Otto Milburn were introduced to Scout leaders.

Medals were presented to James Maynard and Merlin Whitehead of Troop 22 for the assistance they gave in rescuing passengers of an airplane which crashed into the Rock River.

Three Scout leaders Training courses were started in November: Rockford for Winnebago Scout leaders at Rockford College under direction of George C. Driesbach, at Dixon, Ill. for Lee and Ogle Scout leaders under direction of Gustav Albrecht and at Sterling for Whiteside County Scout leaders under direction of Albert Dreisbach.

Plans were made and Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps formed by the Rockford Exchange Club. This Corps has now grown to 75 and financed and sponsored by the Exchange Club.

Rockford Exchange Club held Christmas party at Spanish Tea Room, Lafayette Hotel and presented drums to the Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps.

Annual Circus was held at Shrine Temple at Dixon and at Sterling and was witnessed by some 500 people.

Christmas baskets were distributed to the needy by various troops.

Scout leaders appreciation banquet was held at Lafayette Hotel, 75 attended.

The Annual Regional meeting was held at Chicago and five Executive Board members of Blackhawk Area attended.

The Second Merit Badge Exposition was held at the Shrine Temple February 15 and 16. 3,500 witnessed this exposition. Sixty five booths filled the basement and main floor of the Tabala Temple. This event was sponsored by the Rockford Exchange Club.

Activities during Anniversary week were held: Father and Son banquets by troops; Scout Sunday in 25 churches etc.

David R. Martin Jr. of Austin, Minn. talked to the following about his experiences on the Martin John expedition into British East Africa last summer. Three Boy Scouts were chosen from 800,000 to go on the expedition.

HEALTH AND SAFETY COMMITTEE

Dr. W. K. Ford, Chairman

The Health and Safety Committee being a new committee this year, its work was done in conjunction with summer camp. This was supervised very carefully in making inspections of sanitary conditions, of Camp Amos Horton and Camp Rotary, testing water supply of both camps, making a check on swimming pool at Camp Rotary. Also instructions in the necessary safety precautions for troop camps by Amboy troop at Franklin Grove and a northern trip by Troop 35 and Troop 2 of Rockford. The arrangements made for the trip of the Jamboree Scouts was checked very carefully and was commented on by both National Office and American Express Co. who wrote a letter that our Jamboree delegation was the most thoroughly organized party they have ever had the opportunity of moving.

We are glad to report that during camp period only a few minor injuries resulted. One a scalding of a boy's arm, the other the laceration of a foot received while chopping wood and the third a laceration of the head, one of the staff received from the crank of the gas engine at Camp.

Necessary insurance, liability and group policy insurance were carried by the council. These policies should cover all expenses due to medical service.

YOUNG SCALPERS

Chicago, Oct. 8. (AP)—Three alleged scalpers of world series tickets two of them Detroit high school boys were arrested by government agents on downtown streets today.

The two boys giving their names as Irving Kirschner, 18, of 9726 Belmont Avenue and Harry Katz, of 2977 Hogart Ave., Detroit, were taken into custody when they offered several tickets at $35 each. They said they then accepted an offer of a scalper to sell tickets on a commission basis.

Those arrested will be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner. Bond of $500 is required.

COMPTON NEWS

COMPTON—The Brooklyn cemetery association have received the following donations, toward the gravel drive: S. O. Argraves 1 1/2 day labor, and William F. Bettner 1 1/2 day labor, and also $10.00 in cash from Fred Gilmore, and $5.00 in cash from Arlo Gilmore. The other donations were printed in last week's issue, any other contributions will be accorded as this.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilmore and Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Gilmore motored to Spring Valley and visited with Mr. Sam Boring, who is confined at the hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller visited over Sunday with their son Dale Miller, who is attending Mt. Morris college at Mt. Morris, Ill.

Dr. B. F. Cook and wife started on their return trip home to Rutland, Vt., after spending the week here with his sister, Mrs. L. D. Miller.

Duck hunting seems to be getting to be an expensive sport, as reported by some of the bird-hunters recently. In most places it will cost $15 per day at the least for the privilege, but this happens, not be the case with the Compton sportsmen as they can hunt over at the H. M. Chaon pond, near Shaw's for nearly the cost of the shells. It is an ideal place, far back, off from the road-way, and has the place equipped with modern convenience, a cabin, tanks, and boats, also plenty of birds visit the place, and might add that most

The M. E. adies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Grover Carnahan, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 15th. Those that wish to go, should meet at Mrs. L. D. Miller at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

A very successful bakery sale sponsored by the junior class of Compton H. S. was held Saturday October 5th, at the Chaons store. Things sold exceptionally well, with the total sales amounting to $14.00. The class wishes to express their sincere thanks for the contributions and spirit with which they were given.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bauer have returned home after enjoying a rather long visit with relatives near Waterloo, Iowa.

H. F. Cook is driving a new Pontiac sedan, bought through the Mendoza agency, early this week.

The M. E. Ladies Aid will hold a church supper in the parlors on Friday night of this week, Oct. 11th, which will be served at the usual hour. Menu—Veal-birds, mashed potatoes, cottage cheese, pineapple salad, Dutch cheese, Parker House rolls, jelly, pumpkin and apple pie.

The First National bank of Compton will observe along with the rest of the banks throughout Lee County, Columbus Day on Saturday October 12th. This day is a legal holiday. Patrons will kindly take notice, as there will be no business transacted on Saturday.

It was learned early last week that Fred Otterbach was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Pettenger of Scarborough, near the Little Brown Church, near Waverly, Iowa, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, October 2nd. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pettenger of near Scarborough, who has been teaching school near West Brooklyn for the past few years. Fred Otterbach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Otterbach of Compton, and has lived here since he came back from the hospital at Fort Sheridan. The happy couple are spending their honeymoon on a trip through the south, and expects to arrive home around the 15th to receive the congratulations of their many friends here, and Scarborough. The newlyweds will occupy the home acquired by the groom this summer from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holdren of Aurora.

Mrs. L. D. Miller entertained a number of friends with a bridge luncheon at her home last Thursday evening in honor of her brother, Dr. B. F. Cook and wife of Rutland, Vermont.

The H. M. Chaon store will be the scene of the Compton grades third annual sale of hand-work Saturday, October 12th. The teachers, Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Swope have the windows decorated with articles that will be on sale Saturday. Many other articles will be added to the line that can be seen in the north window of the Chaon store before the sale.

The September honor class of the high school is as follows: Gwendolyn Rhodes, Max Burley, Raymond Schmidt, Genevieve Rhodes, Marion July, Norman Ogilvie, Erwin Grosshans, Edna Davis, Vera Mae Bauer, Lee Archer, Julia Walters, Faith Swope, Vera Mureley, Helma Miller, Margaret Halboth, Evelyn Flor-schuetz, Anna Eke, Lester Eggers, and Wellington Chaon. These students are permitted certain privileges. The September special honor group is composed of Dorothy Gilmore, Olga Florschuetz, and Vera Cook. These are allowed privileges in addition to those of the honor class.

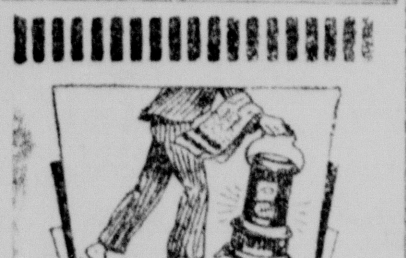

Seventy-four per cent of the high school were perfect in attendance, showing an increase over last year. The Junior class ranking has a mark of 87 per cent perfect.

The work of the whole school has been handicapped by the crowded condition in temporary quarters but it is hoped that our new school building may be occupied soon. The total enrollment in both grades and high school is now 70.

KONJOLA ENDED
TEN YEARS OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

"The Quick Results I Obtained
Through the Use of this Medicine Astounded
Me," He Says.

MR. A. D. WINGET.

"The quick results I obtained through the use of Konjola astounded me," said Mr. A. D. Winget, 601 East Barham Street, Marion, Ill. "For the past ten years I suffered from kidney trouble and constipation. I tried everything recommended but did not benefit. Steadily I grew worse and finally had to stop work. I lost strength and energy and was unable to obtain the proper amount of sleep at night."

"I read many wonderful things about Konjola and decided to give it a trial. I noticed results almost at once. I am progressing so rapidly that I intend to return to my work. I have gained strength and energy. I am quite an old man, but yet Konjola has worked wonders for me. In fact, it did more than all else put together. That is why I am so enthusiastic about this medicine. Konjola is sold in Dixon at FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 West First St., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

AVIATOR, KNOWN
HERE, MADE RE-CORD IN GLIDER

Dispatches Tell of Accomplishment of Hawley Bowlus

Hawley Bowlus, aviation expert and enthusiast, who is well known in Dixon, has established a new glider endurance record at San Diego, Cal., where he is now located. Recent news dispatches contain the information that Mr. Bowlus' sailplane remained in the air fourteen minutes and ten seconds in a recent test at San Diego, establishing the new record.

Mr. Bowlus, who has relatives in Dixon, visited this city a year ago last spring and inspected several sites for the intended purpose of locating an airport. He was also interested in the manufacture and assembly of planes at the time and during his visit here considered probable sites for a factory location. Some time ago he went west with his brother to San Diego where he still remains an enthusiast and expert of aviation.

Dispatches telling of his new record for American gliders, state that the shock cord method of launching was used. The flight was in the nature of a test for a special try for American records which is now in progress at a meet this week. Believing that Point Lomax offered continuous up-currents of air strong enough to sus-tain him for a long period. Bowlus selected several locations from which to start and made several flights longer than the present record. His final flight was made from a point midway between the Bennington monument and the old lighthouse where the slope of the hill provides a course about half a mile in length along the top of the point.

Starting at 2:45:30, Bowlus made seven complete laps of the course remaining at an average height of fifty feet above the point of departure and finally landed at 3:08:40 on top of Point Loma, 450 feet from the launching place.

Rochester's Morale
Bolstered by a Win

Rochester, N. Y. Oct. 9. (AP)—Their morale bolstered by an easy win over the Kansas City Blue in the fifth game of the "Little World's Series," Billy Southworth's Rochester Redwings were determined today to even the series at three victories apiece.

Southworth, who returned to Rochester from the St. Louis Cardinals in time to pilot the Redwings to their second successive International League pennant, was hoping for a continuation of the snappy fielding, good pitching and effective batting that carried Rochester to an 8-1 victory over the American Association title-holders yesterday.

Tex Carleton, who won Rochester's only victory in the four games at Kansas City, pitched magnificent ball yesterday. Max Thomas, starting pitcher for Kansas City, pitched scoreless baseball for four innings but the Redwings hopped on him for three runs in the fifth and then sent him to the showers in the midst of a seventh inning rally that eventually netted five runs.

Today Southworth planned to send Paul Derringer to the mound with Lynn Nelson his probable opponent. Bitter cold and a morning snowstorm, rainstorm and hail which made the burning of gasoline necessary to dry out the field for the contest combined to keep the crowd down yesterday to 4411.

Tolson Fanned: Cub
Partisan Drops Dead

Chicago, Oct. 9. (UP)—It was the ninth inning, two were out and the Cubs' last chance was stolen, battling for Bush, Ralph A. O. Wertheim, prominent in Masonic circles, followed each play by radio as he sat in his home.

"Hit it—sock that ball," he pleaded.

"Tolson struck out. Philadelphia wins," came from the loudspeaker. Wertheim slumped from the chair dead. His heart had failed under the strain.

Umpires, For Once,
Were Not to Blame

Chicago, Oct. 9. (AP)—For once the umpires are not to blame, and insist upon being absolved. The fifteen-minute delay in starting the first game of the world series was general ascribed to the failure of the arbiters to appear upon the field at the appointed hour.

It develops, however, that hundreds of ticket-holders were caught in an impassable jam before grandstand turnstiles at the last minute and that William Wrigley, Jr., requested Commissioner Landis to delay the start of the game a quarter of an hour to give these clients a "break." The simplest way of preventing play was to delay the appearance of the umpire, who insist they were at the park as early as 12:30 o'clock.

Old Timers To Meet
Independents Again

It was announced today that another baseball game between the Old Timers and the Dixon Independents will be played at the latter's field next Sunday afternoon, and the Old Timers expect to even up the score with the help of the bat of Sheriff Ward Miller, Dixon's only ex-major leaguer. The fans are exhibiting considerable interest in this series of contests between the veterans and the youngsters.

Identity of Unknown

Author Is Revealed

London, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The identity of the "Gentleman With a Duster," whose "Mirror of Downing Street" caused a literary and political sensation a few years ago, was revealed today with the death of Harold Begbie, the well known writer.

Begbie died at 58, at his home, the Red House, Ringwood, Hampshire. His publisher, Charles Boon, then announced that Begbie was the "Gentleman With a Duster." Boon said it had been one of the most closely guarded secrets of the publishing world.

Begbie had been a prolific writer for 30 years. He produced dozens of works of fiction, biography, social studies, and other subjects.

WALKER DENIES BORROWING FROM CASINO'S OWNER

Intimation of Opponent for Mayoralty is Promptly Denied

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker today gave a negative answer to an inquiry by Richard E. Enright, mayoralty candidate of the Square Deal Party, as to whether the mayor had borrowed $2,000 from the proprietor of the Central Park Casino in the middle of the night.

Enright, who was Police Commissioner under Mayor Hylan, made his inquiry concerning the loan in a statement criticizing Mayor Walker for leasing the Casino for $8,000 a year to Sidney Solomon to be operated as a high-priced restaurant and dance resort.

"I would like to ask if he borrowed $2,000 from the proprietor of this place in the middle of the night a few weeks or a month ago and had it sent over to the Ritz-Carlton where he was holding a prayer meeting," Enright said. He explained that by "prayer meeting" he meant a crap game.

"I never asked for, borrowed or received $2,000 or any other sum from Sidney Solomon or any other person connected with the Casino restaurant enterprise," Mayor Walker said.

Solomon also denied the transaction.

Enright also charged that policemen and detectives in Brooklyn rode liquor trucks operated by a gangster known as "Little Augie" who was a local representative of Al Capone, Chicago gangster now serving a sentence for carrying concealed weapons in Philadelphia.

Capone's Appeal Is

Withdrawn by Atty.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Attorneys for Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone, Chicago gang chieftain who is serving a term of one year in the Eastern Penitentiary here, today withdrew their appeal in his behalf before the State Superior Court.

The appeal was from the decision of Judge Walsh in refusing a writ of coram nobis in the Municipal Court sometime ago.

The gang chief's attorneys made it plain, however, they will continue their efforts for the release of Capone and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, who were sentenced for carrying concealed weapons here last May.

MICKELSON IMPROVES.

Compare Fence Post Values Before You Buy

IF YOU are to get the most fence post value for your money be sure to exercise the same care in the selection of a steel post as you do in deciding upon other important farm equipment.

Critical buyers have found that all steel posts are not alike in quality, service, strength and dependability. Study carefully the post you intend to buy.

Is it made of tough, springy railroad rail steel that will give long years of service in the fence line? Is it easy to drive and install? How is it built? Will it hold the fence securely and resist shocks of charging animals without breaking? Will it permanently hold the wire in place and the fence in steady security year after year—as long as the fence lasts?

All these tough questions are answered in the Red Top Steel Post. Come in and let us demonstrate to you the extra value features that make Red Top the best fence post for you to use for all purposes.

THREE-FINGERED BROWN WRITES OF HIS IMPRESSIONS

Star Pitcher of Famous Old Cubs Witnessed Opening Game

BY MORDECAI "THREE FINGERED" BROWN
(Famous Pitcher of the Old Chicago Cubs)

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—I saw my first world's series game yesterday that I have seen since 1910, when the Athletics did to us Cubs something like they did to our successors in the opener.

The old game has changed considerably, but it is still the same. The Cubs, I think, lost because Root thought he would slip his fast one over the plate on Fox with two strikes and no balls. His guess was as good as anyone's except a second guesser, and the fact that Fox hit it over into the bleachers is all that counts. If he had shot it over and caught Fox asleep he would have been a hero.

As for fielding and inside play—all I can say is that they play the game differently now. Some fellow bunted yesterday and the crowd gasped as if they had forgotten the bunt. I liked McCarthy's generalship, even if it lost. He first bailed Ehmske a couple of times and came near turning the ball game upside down, but Ehmske, after being fooled those two times saved himself by fine pitching. He mixed up his curve which has an upward tendency, and he crossed them with a fast curve. He used a slow motion and put a lot of stuff on the ball in the pinches.

Two Fine Teams.
As for the players—they are two fine teams, and I think this boy Cochrane is the best catcher I have seen since Kling. They say he is better but you'll have to show me before I'll believe that.

The opening game was almost perfectly planned and played and I think the Athletics deserved to win because they took advantage of chances and they were best when they were threatened. We old timers have to stick together and even if I am rooting for the Cubs I have to root for Ehmske. The old head won the game over the youngsters who will have their day sometime.

I haven't any criticism to offer of either team. The errors were part of the game and young English had at least one tough ball to handle because it bounded in a funny way to him. But that didn't really count—Fox's home run settled it. If Hornsby had been able to hit the ball at all in the third inning the result probably would have been different as it probably would have meant that Ehmske would have been out for a pinch hitter and that Root would have finished the game.

The turning point of the whole game, I think, was when Ehmske out-smarted Hornsby and struck him out. Hornsby was way back on the back line of the box laying to step in and hit a curve and Ehmske shot a fast one past him for a strike, catching him unbalanced and then curved him with a slow and then a fast curve. It was fine pitching and fine control and it doesn't mean that Hornsby isn't a great hitter. In fact you can't fool a dumb batter—it is the smart ones who get fooled worst.

Gridiron News Gathered About Training Camps

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Fielding H. Yost can't retire from all connection with the coaching of Michigan football teams. He handed the reins to Harry Kipke before the season started and told him the team was his. But yesterday Kipke called on the old man for a little help in teaching the Wolverine line how to act against Purdue plays.

Yost spent a half hour with the Michigan linemen and produced noticeable improvement in the play of the front defense. Michigan does not understate the Bullmackers, against whom they will open their Big Ten schedule Saturday, and Kipke and his assistants, are driving the squad to bring it to the proper pitch.

Iowa went through another scrimmage yesterday without the presence of Captain Willis Glassgow, who was injured in the Monmouth encounter last week, but managed to hammer through the freshmen for four tough downs. Ohio State, which will entertain the Hawkeyes in their opening conference game Saturday, continued to work for improvement in offense. Coach Pat Page didn't give Indiana regulars much of a workout yesterday, but concentrated on reserves who are likely to see service against Chicago Saturday. Page learned that Ed Hughes, a veteran back and capable punter, has worked off a scholastic condition and will be ready for the Chicago battle. The Maroons are figuring on a surprise party for Indiana, with a forward passing attack as the basis.

Dick Hanley, Northwestern, still is working more intently on his line than on his back. Loss of Hutchinson, regular tackle, had added to his worries, on the eve of the Wildcats' first Big Ten game with Wisconsin at Madison Saturday. The Badgers will be equipped with additional plays with which they hope to thrust back Northwestern.

Thousands Unable To See World Series

Illinois and Minnesota, which tackle non-conference opponents, still are being sifted around by Coaches Zuppke and Spears. Zuppke is displeased with his backfield and Saturday will find a new attacking force starting against Bradley. Minnesota will engage an intersectional opponent in Vanderbilt.

McLarnin Vs Baker Bout Holds Interest

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—For the first time since he outpointed Ray Miller in a tame bout last March, Jimmy McLarnin and his deadly punching will be on display for metropolitan fans tonight.

McLarnin, now a legitimate welterweight, meets Sammy Baker, Mitchell Field veteran, in a ten round bout at the New York Coliseum.

Weighing about 143 pounds, McLarnin will be given away four or five rounds to Baker but experts expect he will not be troubled by that fact.

Baker, not so long ago a leading contender for the welterweight title,

Jimmy Foxx's Homer Feature of Opening Game

Young Jimmy Foxx provided the punch that enabled the Athletics to win the opening game of the world's series. He is shown here crossing the plate after his home run in the seventh scored the first run of the series. Bing Miller is waiting to congratulate him. Below Charlie Grimm, Chicago first baseman, is shown making a futile slide into second in the fourth inning on an attempted steal. Grimm is shown protesting the decision as Bishop tagged him.

CY YOUNG TELLS HOW FIRST GAME LOOKED TO HIM

Also Recalls Pitchers Of Other Days Who Had Slow Ball

BY CY YOUNG
(Only Major League Pitcher to Win 500 Games)

(As told to the United Press)
Chicago, Oct. 9.—(UP)—Searching back in my stock of memories of 23 years in major league baseball, I can't recall any second string pitcher who ever pitched a world series opener and delivered like Howard Ehmske did yesterday for Philadelphia and Connie Mack.

Neither do I recollect in all the time from the 90's down to now that I have seen a pitcher who works like the lanky hurler, Connie Mack, whose tricks I have come to know through long friendship, again showed the baseball world the value of his unexpected moves.

In attempting to figure out from my own experience how Ehmske tantalized a victory out of the Cubs, three pitchers of the old days come to my mind as comparisons but none of them fills the bill in all respects. Ehmske's perfect control in putting the ball where he wanted it at the time he wanted it there, reminded me of Frank Dwyer who played with the Cincinnati club in the 90's. He was Ehmske's equal in control but lacked some of his other qualities.

Recalls Oother Veterans.
George Cuppy, who played on the old Cleveland team from '91 to '98 when I was pitching there, hurled his game a great deal like Ehmske, slowly, tantalizingly and with lot of cool headedness. Cuppy, however, wasn't the pitcher Ehmske is by a great sight. Neither did he have Ehmske's three arm motions, side arm and underhand.

Another who measures up in some respects to Ehmske was Cy Falkenberg of the Cleveland club in the early 1900's. He was smart like Ehmske and had the change of pace that enabled the Philadelphian to win, but lacked the perfect control.

I don't think I ever saw better pitching in a world series than Ehmske showed yesterday. It was his day and he made the most of it. The way he set the Cub "Murderer's Row" down was a big surprise to me after what I had heard and read about Hornsby, Wilson and Cuyler as fence busters.

Root Victim of Breaks.
Charley Root, who went seven innings for the Cubs, was more a victim of circumstances than of bad pitching. He was going along fine until Foxx got that home run, which might happen to any pitcher. Then the Cub management, apparently banking on getting two runs, put in a pinch hitter and that let Root out. Except for the two bobbles of English, Guy Bush might have pulled the game out of the fire. He pitched good ball for the three innings.

Ehmske's long windups, slow motions and change of pace turned the trick for him. I think he had the Cubs where he wanted them and played with them at will. He pulled himself out of three bad holes by fanning the best batters in the Cub lineup when a hit would have meant runs and possibility of losing the game.

From the press box it looked like Ehmske didn't have anything at all on the ball but the fact that he fanned 13 men for a new world series record shows that he had plenty.

—If you cannot come to the Fall during the day—come for the evening entertainment. Something doing every minute!

SPORT SLANTS

"If I should happen to go broke trying to be a promoter, I might have to fight again, but I feel a lot better now on the outside looking in," remarked Jack Dempsey over the radio from the ringside of the Fields Dundee fight at Chicago. Then he paid tribute to Jack Sharkey.

"Sharkey is a great fighter and it will take a mighty good man to beat him. Don't let anybody tell you he can't hit. I know he can."

It is an outside prospect but if Dempsey should be convinced he could get into good fighting trim again, there is little doubt he would like to go in against Sharkey again for one final fling at the title he lost to Tunney.

Meanwhile it does not seem likely the Manassa Mauler has much, if any future as a radio announcer. He took the "mike" for a round of the Fields-Dundee scrap from Graham McNamee but got so excited that he quit broadcasting abruptly to advise Fields to "Finish him, kid go after him!" Nevertheless his debut as a promoter in Chicago was all very "wonderful" to Dempsey who spotted a lot of "wonderful people" around the ringside and "George Getz with 25 wonderful fellows" in the second row.

Remembering its final-game setback at the hands of Tennessee last December Florida faces another stiff schedule with high hopes but a warning against over-confidence, writes Frank S. Wright from his observatory at Gainesville.

"Dale Vansickel, our All-American end, is very much in the picture although his early work has been handicapped by four infected wisdom teeth and a set of aggravating tonsils," advised Wright. "If he rounds into condition I believe he will be even better this year but meanwhile two of our 'big shots' will be Jimmy Steele at guard and Royce Goodbread, a big halfback.

"Goodbread scales 192 pounds of solid bone and muscle and clips off the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds. He has unusual power, speed and drive. In '25 with the St. Petersburg High School team he totalled 193 points for high score honors. This is his final season with the Gators and he certainly looks like he is going to set the south on fire. He carried the ball eight times against Southern whom we defeated 54-0 and aggregated 131 yards, counting two touchdowns.

Wrigley Opens Series by Tossing Out First Ball

No world series would be complete without someone tossing out the first ball and William Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, performed this trick to open the 1929 series. He is shown here just before he made his throw.

"Jimmy Steele worked hard all summer and at 195 pounds, with last year's experience to go on, may be the best guard in the south."

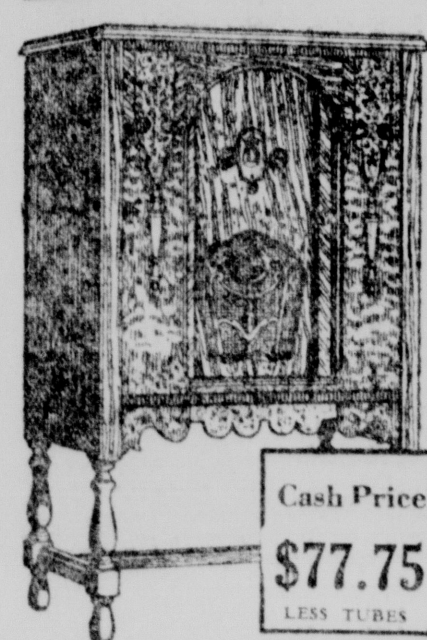

Speaking of schedules, the Navy has five strenuous games in a row starting with Notre Dame Oct. 12 and then Duke, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Georgetown in succession. Penn and Princeton each has absorbed two defeats in a row at the hands of the sailors and both will be out for some revenge.

GRAPE JUICE IS OBJECTIVE NEW CHICAGO RACKET

Purchasers Intimidated Against Claiming Shipments

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A new racket has appeared in Chicago, whereby shipments of grape juice and grape products are obtained at less than their actual value.

Here is how the game is worked, as explained by Prohibition Commissioner Doran:

The racketeers go to the railroad yards and make a check of shipments of grape juice and grape products to obtain the names of the persons to whom they are consigned. Then they present themselves as prohibition agents and intimidate the prospective purchasers, with the result that shipments of beverages are not called for.

The apparent purpose of the racket, the prohibition commissioner said, is to frighten off the purchasers so the racketeers can bid the beverages in at their own prices.

Chicago is the only city from which reports of the practice have been received. An investigation was made when reports were received that prohibition agents were seeking to prevent the sale of grape beverages. Doran said no government agents were involved.

An order to prohibition administrators and agents was issued recently by Doran prohibiting their interference with the shipment or use of grape products in the home or for any other legal purpose.

Daily Health Talk

By Donald A. Laird, Ph. D., Sci. D.
Hamilton, New York

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

One's emotional attitude during illness has long been known to have a profound effect upon the speed of recovery. Physicians usually rejoice when their patients have cheerful attitudes. Since emotion is as much physiological as it is mental it is extremely important to safeguard emotional attitudes during poor health.

In preparing food for the home patient attention should be given to have the dishes attractively arranged, garnished with bits of color and containing, so far as the illness permits, foods to which the sick member of the family is especially partial. The taste and smell sense organs from which the food gains its so-called taste appeal are usually dulled by even a slight illness, and the appetite suffers; they will eat less food than they would like to because it does not tempt their appetite.

The foods should have all the bouquet of their fragrances reach the nostrils of the one who is ill. What we usually call taste is really nine-tenths the sense of smell. Freshly prepared and hot dishes carry their olfactory bouquet of the food most potently and encourage a positive emotional attitude toward food. Flowers serve not only to buoy up one's emotions when ill by reminding him of pleasant friendships, but their fragrances also yield further favorable stimulation by their appeal to the intimate olfactory sense—the oldest sense in mankind. When ill one usually gives off odors which are not pleasant and which are depressing even to the unrefined. The fresh volatile flowers help counteract these depressing odors, in addition to covering up the odor of any smelly drugs which are being used for hygienic purposes. Flowers cheer the nostrils as well as the eyes and memories.

Several products made from paradiachlorobenzene are now available which will supplement flowers by deodorizing surely and at the same time lend a pleasant scent of one's own choosing to the room. Small variously scented cubes of these new preparations can be changed in the patient's room from day to day so that a new olfactory treat is provided each day. There are now also water soluble synthetic aromatics which can be used in rinse waters so that the starchy and soapy smell of linens is replaced by a pleasant scent of several varieties. These water solubles can also be sprinkled around the floor. In these the chemist has outdone flowers in helping keep a cheerful emotional attitude in the home patient.

Physicians see encouragement for a speedy recovery in a cheerful patient. Use every means to keep cheerful!

Carolínians Still Fight Flood Waters

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Lower South Carolina and eastern North Carolina today continued to battle against flood-waters which have poured down from the mountain sections to inundate large areas in the lowlands.

In South Carolina there was a general tieup of railways with re-routing of all important trains. Red Cross and other relief organizations were caring for hundreds driven from their homes by the waters, especially in the vicinity of Kedgeford where the Savannah river was completely beyond control.

Waters of the Cape Fear in North Carolina were falling today except in rare instances. Several hundred people were still camping around today in the neighborhood of the Cape Fear's lower valley but they expect to get back to their homes soon.

The main line Atlantic Coast Line trains from New York to Florida were being rerouted from North Florence, S. C., thence to Columbia and Augusta, on Southern Railway tracks.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—A rescue party was dispatched from here today on a special train to a point between Leys and Pritchardsville, South Carolina, where persons were reported to have taken refuge in the tops of trees because of high waters.

The train carried motor boats and other equipment for rescue work. Employees of the Seaboard Air Line Railway had reported the sighting of the three refugees late yesterday.

The Savannah Chapter of the Red Cross made preparations to assist the refugees, who were to be brought here.

Telephone communication was impossible today with the region affected by the high water.

Heavy rains for several weeks coupled with the torrential down-pour accompanying the passage of the West Indian storm have sent the streams in this section out of their banks and have blocked traffic.

COME to the Fall Festival which is being held in Dixon 3 days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Fun for old and young.

LINGERIE WEEK

For service, economy and beauty Rayon underthings are preferred by smart women.

More rayon goes into manufacturing of underwear than any other one item because the American woman appreciates beautiful underthings as well as outer garments.

Rayon underwear is preferred—not alone for its beauty but for service and low price, as well.

Stork Visits Japanese Empress

For the third time Empress Nagako of Japan has become a mother, but Japan's hope for a male heir to the throne has again proved disappointing. Another daughter was born. Here is the royal family of Japan. At right, the empress; center, left, the emperor, Hirohito, and two pictures of little Princess Shigeko, eldest daughter of the couple. The other child died.

Leading Artists in New Kent Series

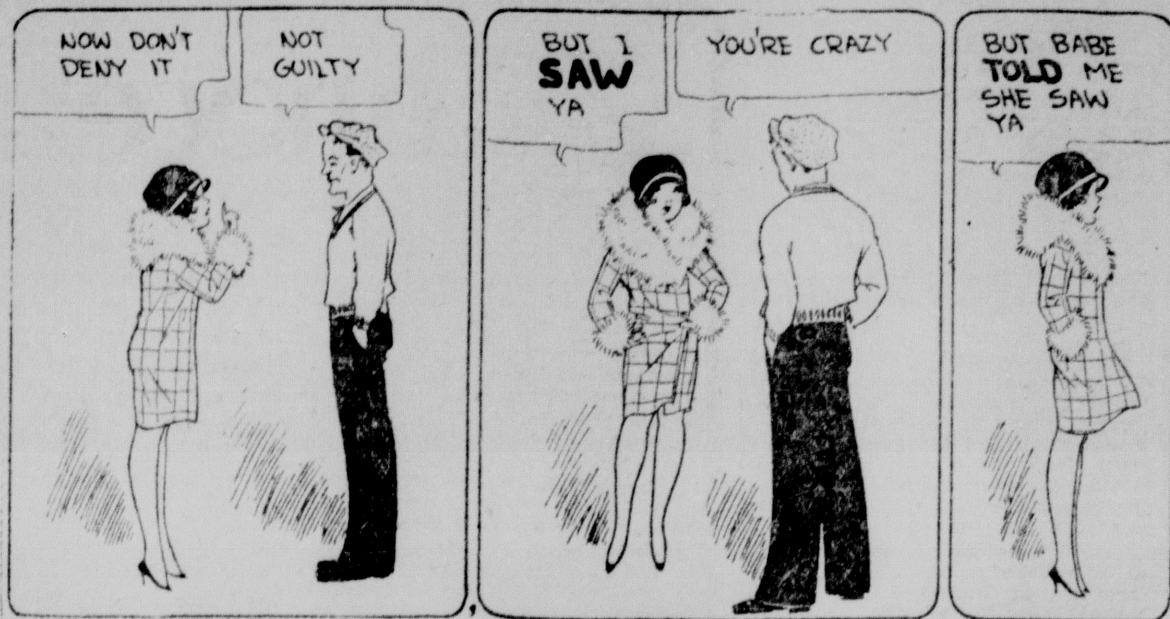

By NEA Service
New York—Radio's fall and winter headliners, many of them back on the air after a summer vacation, are being announced. One of the most popular is the Atwater Kent concert hour, which will make its debut this season October 13, with Rosa Ponselle, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera.
So far 19 of the most famous musical artists in the country have been lined up for this weekly broadcast, which will come at 9:15 eastern time each Sunday. These artists are: Rosa Ponselle, soprano; Maria Kuri, soprano; Reinald Werrenrath, baritone; Mme. Louise Homer, contralto; Frances Alda, soprano; Kathryn Meisle, contralto; Toscha Seidel, violinist; Armand Tokatyan, tenor; Everett Marshall, baritone; Aida Dominga, soprano; Beatrice Harrison, cellist; Lester Donahue, pianist; Albert Spalding, violinist; Frederick Jagel, tenor; Kathleen Stewart, pianist; Marie Mueller, soprano; Martha Atwood, soprano; John Charles Thomas, baritone, and Maria Olszewska, contralto.
Stations in 35 cities will carry this concert program as releasing stations of an NBC network.

Edison Scholars Launch Careers

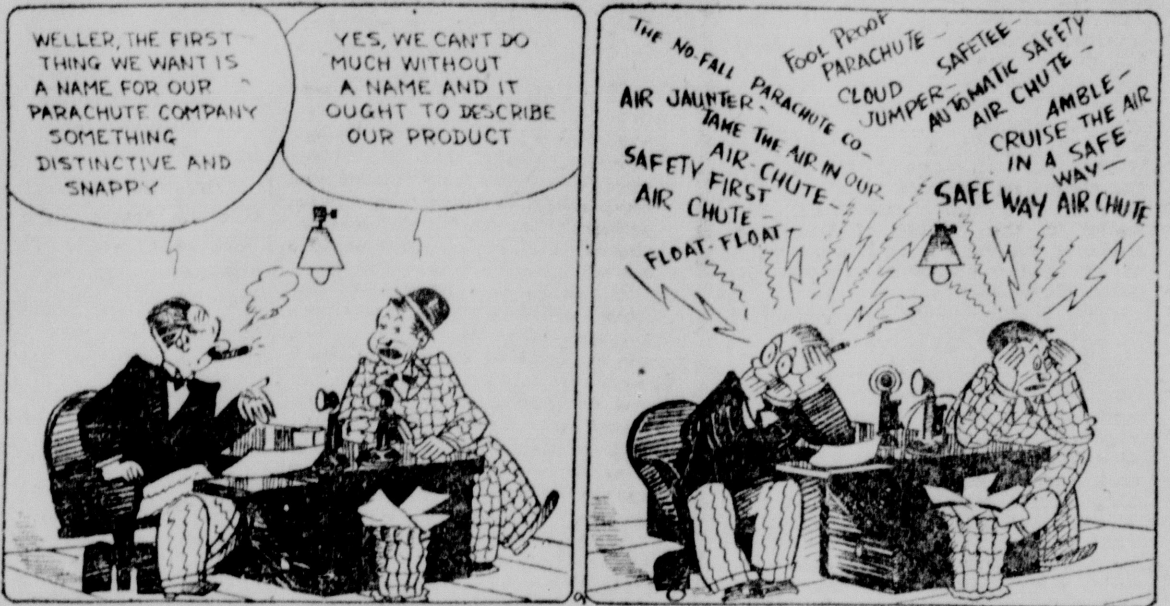

The hopes of Thomas A. Edison, the "electrical wizard," were with these three boys as they were enrolled at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, to launch their scientific careers. Winners of the Edison prize scholarships, awarded last summer in a nation-wide search for young scientific genius, pictured right to left are Charles H. Brunnissen of West Reading, Conn.; Wilbur B. Huston, first prize winner, of Seattle, Wash.; and van G. Getting of Pittsburgh, Pa. At the extreme left is Dr. James L. Tryon, chairman of admissions at the Institute.

Insect Powder Used in Pancakes: 5 Sick

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Five persons became critically ill early today from insect powder used by mistake for pancake flour.

The ill are Mrs. Fanny Shapiro, 29, her children, Sam, 6, and Stella, 4, her mother, Mrs. Sarah Goldman, 56, and Mildred Tress, 3, a niece of Mrs. Shapiro.

Mrs. Shapiro's husband, John, a salesman, returned soon after the meal had been eaten and found the victims violently ill.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN PAGE feels helplessly in love with her guardian, LEONARD BRENT. After meeting a dying beggar, CHARLES NELLIN, Brent changes his plans for Helen's future. Soon after he tells her that she is the only grandchild of a millionaire, CYRIL K. CUNNINGHAM. Brent takes her to Cunningham and offers proofs which the lonely old man accepts, who he had been searching for the child.

Among Helen's new friends are EVA ENNIS and her brother ROBERT, who falls in love with her. Brent finds another lock like the one he had taken from Nellin to prove Helen the heiress. He also becomes jealous of Bob and plots to win Helen quickly. Hearing the doctor say that a sudden shock would kill the old man, Brent gets the servants out of the way and rushes into the sick room shouting wildly that Helen has been killed. His plan works and Cunningham is found dead. Then, acting as sympathizer and appealing to her loyalty, Brent accuses Helen's promise to marry him.

When the chance meeting between Helen and Bob reveals their love for each other, but she tells him she is promised to another, Helen goes to ask Brent to release her and finds CARMEL REGRO to his apartment. Carmel throws herself in Brent's arms before he sees Helen. This makes it easier for her to demand that their engagement be broken, but Brent refuses to release her, saying that he had given up marriage earlier and devoted his life to her so that now she has no right to reject him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

HELEN stared at Brent like a helpless creature caught in a net. Her face drained white while he held her gaze with his own, seeming to force his will upon her.

Then something very strange happened to her. A warm flood purely mental but with actual physical sensation, rushed to her heart, and filled it with courage.

She thought of Bob—of his kisses—of the blissful joy of lying in his arms, of the divinely happy knowledge that she belonged there—that he would shelter her, love her, protect her always.

Brent's face became satanic. Helen shuddered with a slight tremor. Had she ever really thought him attractive?

Suddenly she hated him. What had he done? He had let a young girl remain madly infatuated with him when with a word he could have ended it. Why? Because he wanted to live his life for her? She could not believe it.

A smile of disillusion caught at her lips and contorted their lovely lines into an unfamiliar

EACH MEMBER OF HOLDUP DUO WAS CROOKED

Each Planned to Gyp Other After Get- ting Money

Chicago, Oct. 8. (AP)—The understanding was that Marshall Field & Company was to be robbed of about $1,200, but the two young fellows who conceived the idea got to robbing each other and wound up in jail without any profit whatsoever.

Laurence La Roche, 20, helper on a Marshall Field truck, was held up at a gun point yesterday and forced to hand over $632 which was being transferred from one store to another. Later La Roche admitted the robbery was a frameup and he named Harold Pemberton, 18, as his co-plottor and the holdup man. They were to divide the loot, La Roche said.

Going deeper into the matter police learned that La Roche, fearing the well known double cross, had removed $553 from the package before Pemberton arrived. He said that if Pemberton later had offered half of $632 he would have accepted that, too.

Pemberton, told of this, was disgusted. He called La Roche by several inelegant titles, one of which was double-crosser.

"Thought you were pulling a fast one, eh?" he shouted at La Roche. "Well, I was set to get most of the dough myself. I was going to be square and split the $632 with you. Then I was going to have a friend of mine hold you up and take it away again."
